

Place

after W.S. Merwin

though advised against it

I climb rocks

alone

what for

not for the rush and not to conquer but to be born into the sound of river ricocheting off the granite roof two-hundred feet above the flux of geologic time and to exist

amongst the orange

edge

of lichen

Aaron M. Moe
October 2009