

yellow

you stretch into sunshine...your sun-soaked

skin the flesh of a leaf

where photons mix
and reel into liquid

light—diffuse into blood—and pump into your curled toes arched back
    outstretched fingers

into your smile
    the color of
    honeysuckle

aaron moe
december 2004